We are a mission business dedicated to bringing change to the digital labour market by helping people and communities trade skills.

Our beautiful, functional skill-sharing app has a growing userbase and pipeline of communities across the world, including co-working spaces, charities and volunteer groups.

We're partnering with London charity, Bud, to white label Able to support course-based learning.

Key Responsibilities:

- Redevelop Able in React Native / cross-platform solution
- Develop Able time-banking functionality to help communities trade
- Develop Able online (integrate app to include website)
- Develop Able search functionality using elasticsearch.io or similar

You:

- Want to help people trade their skills without middlemen
- Have developed applications using React Native (or other cross platform solution)
- Happy to work for generous equity and future revenue share with understanding current salary pool is limited, but fair, at this stage. Please state your desired salary/rate and equity share - if you have a view - when you apply.
- Understand we are a mission business and measure success based on skills shared and traded, and communities enabled, not profit.
- Are happy working flexibly; Able doesn't have an office and our team is global.
- Are passionate about delivering good, fair worker technology, using up-to-date methods and solutions.

Able technical specs:

- Native for iOS and Android,
- PHP server, MySQL database
- Codeigniter framework, Admin panel, MVC Architecture

Apply to aw@able.global – no recruiters or agents, please. Please include examples of/ links to your work with your application

Application deadline 11th March. Zoom interviews from 12th March with view to start in April/May.
